

INTEGRATION GUIDE · TICKET TAILOR → BREVO

Your event registrations, synced automatically.

When someone buys a ticket or registers for one of your events on Ticket Tailor, their details now flow straight into the right Brevo email list — with no spreadsheets, exports, or copy-paste. This guide shows your team how to connect a new event in three short steps.

Cancelled or refunded orders are automatically removed from the list — the contact is kept.

- 01

No manual work

No exporting CSVs or importing contacts. It happens the moment someone registers.
- 02

Always current

Your lists stay in step with real registrations — including cancellations.
- 03

You stay in control

Decide which Brevo list each event feeds, all from your admin dashboard.

Adding an event in three steps

Do this once per event. It takes about a minute.

1

Copy the Ticket Tailor event ID

In your Ticket Tailor dashboard, open the event. The ID looks like `ev_8542618` and appears in the event's web address (URL). Copy it.

2

Find the Brevo list ID

In Brevo, go to Contacts → Lists and open (or create) the list this event should feed. The list ID is the number shown in that list's URL — for example `19`. Copy that number.

3

Add the mapping in your dashboard

Open your admin dashboard → Event Lists. Enter a name, paste the Ticket Tailor event ID and the Brevo list ID, then click Add mapping. That's it — the event is now live and syncing.

Good to know · Only mapped events route to a list

You only need a mapping for events whose registrations should land in a specific Brevo list. If an event isn't mapped, its registrants are still saved to Brevo — they're just not added to any list. Add a mapping any time to start routing that event.

WHAT TO EXPECT

After an event is connected

Once a mapping is saved, everything below runs on its own.

WHEN THIS HAPPENS	WHAT THE SYNC DOES
New registration	The guest is added (or updated) in Brevo and placed in the event's list, tagged with the event name and order status.
Cancellation / refund	The contact is removed from the event's list automatically. Their contact record is kept in Brevo for your records.
Event with no mapping	The contact is still saved in Brevo , just not added to any list . Only events you've explicitly mapped route into a list — map the event whenever you want its registrations to flow into one.
Editing a mapping	Change the list, rename, disable, or delete a mapping at any time from the Event Lists page — changes take effect immediately.

Secure by design

Every message from Ticket Tailor is signature-verified before it's accepted — only genuine registrations sync.

Real time

Contacts usually appear in Brevo within a second of someone completing checkout.

Low maintenance

Set an event up once. The only ongoing task is mapping each new event you create.

Good to know

Phone numbers are added when they're in valid international format; an unusual number simply syncs the contact without the phone, so a registration is never lost. Marketing consent handling can be switched on whenever your Ticket Tailor checkout includes an opt-in question.
